

ACCOUNTING OUTSOURCING SERVICES

Foreign companies, considering expansion to Eastern Europe, Central Asia or the Caucasus region and those already present in these markets, need to be confident that their accounting and reporting is done in full compliance with local regulations.

SCHNEIDER GROUP offers comprehensive services, ranging from complete accounting outsourcing to chief accountant function, various types of report preparation, accounting audit & assessment and value-added consulting in accounting & tax.

ACCOUNTING SPECIFICS

Accounting and taxation are complicated, bureaucratic, and governed by vast sets of rules that change often and differ significantly from country to country. Payroll, personnel and salary regulations are particularly complex.

In-house accounting can be expensive and time-consuming, especially for small-to-medium enterprises, and diverts resources from building the core business. To increase revenues, reduce non-value-added tasks and avoid the substantial fines and liabilities associated with accounting errors and non-compliance, companies need the services of a qualified local professional with in-depth knowledge of regional accounting regulations and requirements.

Reporting according to local accounting standards can be a challenge for global management to fully understand, as there are significant differences from national and international standards such as IFRS. Businesses need to transform their accounts and reporting into international formats, which can be difficult and resource-intensive.

WHY OUTSOURCE?

By outsourcing accounting and reporting to a local specialist rather than attempting to handle an unfamiliar accounting system in-house, businesses can save significant amounts of time and money that would otherwise be spent on professional retraining and / or hiring new personnel.

Working with experienced, qualified and insured local accountants removes the financial and legal risks of non-compliance and gives you peace of mind while you focus on making progress in a new market.
